When you click on one of the T? M? or B? buttons, the VUMIE(tm) software attempts to launch a browser (or open a new page in your browser if it's already open), and navigate to specific pages in the online help. If this is not working on your computer, then your computer settings are not allowing VUMIE to access your browser. We recommend that you use either Firefox or Chrome as we have seen much fewer problems with those browsers. If neither of those browsers work, here's what you can do.

Instead of pressing the T? button, surf to the following link, which is equivalent to pressing the T? button:
www.virtualunknown.com/vumiehelp/index.h...cid from Glucose.htm

Here is the link that corresponds to the M? button: www.virtualunknown.com/vumiehelp/index.h...ihydrobase\_broth.htm

And here is the link that corresponds to the B? button:

www.virtualunknown.com/vumiehelp/index.h...l\_Identification.htm
